

paul's world photography

Paul Cypert has been capturing life on film for more than 10 years. He was trained in photography at College of Santa Fe, New Mexico and is now adding graphic and design studies to his portfolio at Bangkok University, Thailand. He currently shoots photographs for LookEast Magazine, is frequently published in the Bangkok Post, and is under contract with Alamy Stock Images based in the UK. He regularly shoots weddings, portraits, food/product photography, editorial and architectural photography. He returns to his hometown of Abilene, Texas seasonally, and is available to shoot weddings and on location portraits in the summers.

So you're probably asking:

Will I get to meet my photographer before the wedding?

Today the world is a much smaller place. Before booking me for a wedding you will get plenty of opportunities to view my work and speak to me on the phone. The first place to contact me is through email at paul@cypertadventure.com, and I now have Vonage so you can call me overseas as if you were calling a Dallas number (214 -295-6244). I will be arriving in Abilene in early May to meet you in person.

What is your photographic style?

There are a lot of buzzwords in wedding photography. Some will claim to be traditional shooters and some will say they have a photo-journalistic style. Both styles have their strengths and weaknesses. I like to think of myself as a fusion photographer. I can do both well and shoot the traditional shots when called for, and the creative shots throughout the day giving you the best of both worlds.

What kind of coverage do you provide?

I shoot digitally on high resolution DSLR's. This allows me to shoot many, many images (over 1000). My minimum package covers you for the full day. I don't show up for four hours and leave. My belief is that I should be there to catch all the intricate details that make your day so special. Plus I throw in all the post production extras into my pricing taking your photos to another level.

Will you be sure to get a picture of "Uncle Jethro giving his toast in his ostrich skin boots?"

I provide an extensive questionnaire to get to know you and any "special" photographs you might need. I will do my best to get any special shots that matter to you taking in to consideration the amount of time required and the laws of physics (I can't be in two places at once).

How involved are you in keeping the pace of the day's events?

I can be very involved in keeping the pace and timing of your events or like a fly on the wall, depending on your needs.
