

About Paul Cypert

Paul Cypert has been capturing life on film for more than 10 years and is known for his particular talent of capturing one's unique personality. He was trained in photography at College of Santa Fe, New Mexico. He currently works for LookEast Magazine, is frequently published in the Bangkok Post, Guru, Bangkok 101, and is under contract with Alamy Stock Images based in the UK. He regularly shoots weddings, portraits, food/product photography, editorial and architectural photography.

So you're probably asking:

Will I get to meet my photographer before the wedding?

Before booking me for a wedding you will get plenty of opportunities to view my work and speak to me on the phone. The first place to contact me is through email at pcypert@gmail.com.

What is your photographic style?

There are a lot of buzzwords in wedding photography. Some will claim to be traditional shooters and some will say they have a photo-journalistic style. Both styles have their strengths and weaknesses. I like to think of myself as a fusion photographer. I can do both well and shoot the traditional shots when called for, and the creative shots throughout the day giving you the best of both worlds.

What kind of coverage do you provide?

I shoot digitally on high resolution DSLR's. This allows me to shoot many, many images (typically over 1000). My minimum package covers you for the full day. I don't show up for four hours and leave. My belief is that I should be there to catch all the intricate details that make your day so special. Plus I throw in all the post production (color correction, photoshop, etc) extras into my pricing taking your photos to another level.

Will you be sure to get a picture of "Uncle Jethro giving his toast in his ostrich skin boots?"

I provide an extensive questionnaire to get to know you and any "special" photographs you might need. I will do my best to get any special shots that matter to you taking in to consideration the amount of time required and the laws of physics (I can't be in two places at once).

How involved are you in keeping the pace of the day's events?

I can be very involved in keeping the pace and timing of your events or like a fly on the wall, depending on your needs. If you want I'll capture everything from the bride getting ready to the last person on the dancefloor at the reception.

Extra Time $750

Add another evening of photography to your package. Many people love to have a photographer present at the rehearsal and rehearsal dinner. Many great shots happen at these events as family is together and people are excited for the big day! 50 4X6 Proofs and 25 4X6 "Thank You" photos are added to any package with purchase of extra time. This item is dependent on other bookings and might not be available for all weddings...so book fast!

Location Fee $Price Varies

Travel to Samet, Phuket, Krabi and most Thailand locations outside of Bangkok typically costs $350 but can vary by season. We can always substitute out products from packages to cover costs. Travel to Samui is a bit higher due to the higher cost of airfare to the island.

Additional Prints

These prices are mainly for engagement and bridal sessions. If you prefer the ease of not having to deal with printing your own pictures here are the prices:
